INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

Information Technology (IT) at Procter & Gamble is where business, innovation and technology come together to create competitive advantage. IT professionals are diverse business leaders who apply IT mastery to deliver game-changing, technology driven business models and capabilities.

A career in IT at P&G builds change leadership and influence skills, breadth of experience across multiple businesses, and depth of experience in areas like Application & Integration, Infrastructure, Data & Analytics and IT Security & Risk. Here, you will have the freedom to improve your tools, pilot the latest software, write code that will help write our future, and even transform the way we analyse and collect data - which has the potential to transform the industry.
